Global Entrepreneurship Monitor (GEM) Data

Quality Learning, Innovative Research

The release of the GEM database is subject to the following conditions:

1. Subject to Swinburne's Intellectual Property policy*, all research results, findings, reports, papers or other intellectual property derived from the data by the undersigned Applicant will remain the property of the Applicant. The GEM database remains the property of Swinburne University of Technology ("Swinburne").
2. Research utilising the GEM database is only for scholarship purposes. The GEM data is not available for commercial use or for research intended to be of a proprietary nature.
3. Swinburne's Australian Graduate School of Entrepreneurship does not intend to publish full articles resulting from the research without the written consent of the authors. Publishing and distribution of the research findings will remain the responsibility of the authors unless otherwise agreed. Swinburne's Australian Graduate School of Entrepreneurship reserves the right to promote the topics, authors, abstract and publication of any research utilising the GEM database to showcase the value and richness of the GEM data. Requests for full papers or reports will be referred to the corresponding author(s).

Privacy Statement

We Value Your Privacy

Swinburne University of Technology acknowledges and respects the privacy of individuals. We advise that much of the information that you may have provided to, or may be asked to provide, to Swinburne University of Technology is 'personal information'. As a general rule, personal information is not released by Swinburne University of Technology to other organisations, except in response to legal requirements such as a subpoena, and information regarding an individual will not be disclosed to a third party without the individual's consent, except where a third party is directly acting as our agent.

Why Do We Collect Your Information

This information is normally collected for the purposes of processing your application, registration or inquiry for a Swinburne University of Technology course, activity or interest group. Information that we collect will be used for tracking the GEM data usage and kept on file as proof of formal release.

Privacy Policy

Swinburne University has a Privacy Policy that can be found on its Policies and Procedures Database, which outlines the ways in which we intend to meet our privacy commitments and details the procedures for making complaints under the Act.
